

OE-267

Scope Recoil Tester

The durability and reliability of night vision devices is of paramount importance, especially in combat situations where the equipment is subjected to extreme conditions and multiple weapon recoil shocks. Proper testing of these devices is necessary to ensure that they can withstand the rigors of battle and provide soldiers with the vision they need to complete their missions safely and effectively.

The OE-267 is a weapon recoil shock simulator that can reproduce shock profiles for a wide range of rifles.
